

Candyman

To our valued Customers,

It may come to you as no surprise that everything is either in low supply, hard to get and/or price increases. Candyman has decided to try and keep product costs and shipping as minimal as possible. In order to keep our pricing competitive we needed to find a way to make our business more efficient where possible. We will no longer have the order forms or printed price list/catalog sent out. All our products can be seen on our website www.candymancorp.com We have also updated our ordering procedure to assure more accurate shipping prices. In order to calculate the shipping correctly all orders must be placed through our website www.candymancorp.com. Any call in orders will need to be entered manually through our office during regular office hours, Monday through Friday 11 am to 4 pm. Shipping prices can not be quoted at time of order. This may add several days delay in processing your order. By exclusively using our website you can see any "Specials" we have to offer throughout the year.
